Design diagnosis, visual critique, and 10 professional layout directions

Core conclusion: the approved Accounts & Audit template works because it is short, not because every element should be copied literally. For longer files, the system needs pagination, a stricter grid, and labels that act as navigation rather than duplicate headings.

The best general-purpose solution is Option 01, “Approved Rhythm.” For the most premium client-facing look, use Option 02 or Option 08. For long documents that will keep growing, use Option 05 or Option 09.

#	Style	Best use	Core idea
01	Approved Rhythm	Best default / CEO-safe	Keep the successful row system, but split the 9 topics across two clean pages.
02	Navy Sidebar Report	Premium client-facing PDF	Adds the site-like dark editorial sidebar; strongest brand presence.
03	Minimal Memo	Text-heavy documents	No boxes; maximum readability and easiest to maintain.
04	Balanced Card Grid	Shorter topic cards	Useful when every section is similar length; avoid for very long paragraphs.
05	Thin Timeline	Long lists that need flow	Compact, clean, avoids the “giant sidebar” problem.
06	Compliance Matrix	Regulatory/reference sheets	Table format; strongest for scanning facts and comparing items.
07	Index + Detail	Documents with many topics	Adds at-a-glance navigation before detailed notes.
08	Premium Purple Rail	Strong branded reference	Closest to a polished brochure while staying readable.
09	Compact Bands	Dense one-to-two page handouts	Alternating bands keep sections organized without heavy boxes.
10	Board Brief	Formal client/board delivery	Cover page plus refined detail pages; most executive-looking.

1. What is wrong and why it feels wrong

The issue is not mainly the text. The issue is that the existing short-template grammar was applied to a longer document without changing the structural rules. With four short sections, large boxes and repeated labels feel intentional. With nine uneven sections, those same boxes start to behave like decoration instead of organization.

Specific problems:

- Redundant hierarchy: if the left label and right heading say the same thing, both compete. The left side should be a short locator; the right side should carry the actual heading.
- Full-height sidebar problem: one long left column disconnects labels from their content and makes the page feel like a navigation menu rather than a document.
- Irregular box problem: variable paragraph lengths create unequal rows. Unequal rows are not automatically bad, but they need a consistent alignment rule, border rule, and page-break rule.
- Pagination problem: a long table row or fixed-height container can trap content, create blank pages, or push content into the footer zone.
- Density problem: longer text needs either fewer decorative elements or more pages. Trying to force everything into one visual system makes the page feel cramped or broken.

Our Services

Accountancy & Audit Services

We can appoint Hong Kong accountants and auditors to handle the accounts and audit. All you need to do is create a folder in Google Drive, upload all invoices, cost documents (receipts), and bank statements there (for example from Airwallex, Currenxie, etc.), and grant us access.

02

Pricing

Fee Structure

The fees for accounts and audit depend largely on the transaction volume and the company's turnover, but they start from around USD 2,500. Only after reviewing the documents placed in Google Drive will we be able to provide an accurate fee quote.

03

Tax Status

Offshore Status Application

Application for offshore status is necessary to inform the Hong Kong tax authority that you are a non-resident for a tax exemption in Hong Kong. If you prefer to pay tax (which has its advantages), then you can apply for a tax exemption in Hong Kong. However, with low expenses it is better to apply for the exemption.

04

Remuneration

Director Remuneration

Remember that you cannot pay yourself director's salary, as it is subject to tax in Hong Kong - instead, you should use dividends, loans or expense reimbursements. Each dividend payment requires a board resolution. You can pay dividends monthly, as long as the company remains financially solvent.

05

Incorporation

Incorporating a company in Hong Kong typically takes 7-10 working days. To complete the incorporation process, we will need a copy of the passport and proof of address (issued within the last 3 months) for all directors and shareholders.

Taxation

- Non-Hong Kong sourced income is not subject to Hong Kong taxes.
- Hong Kong sourced income is taxed at 8.25% on profits up to HK$2 million, and at 16.5% on profits exceeding HK$2 million.

Public Records

Hong Kong maintains a public register of directors and shareholders, anyone can access company information for a small fee.

Shareholders and Directors

- Hong Kong companies allow corporate directors, but at least one director must be an individual.
- There is no requirement to have a local director.
- Shareholders can be either foreign corporations or individuals.

Separators become the only structure. The reader has to work to reconnect labels to content.

One full-height sidebar removes the row grouping; the labels stop feeling attached to their content.

Section 05 starts under the footer area. This is a layout failure, not a content problem.

Blank second page symptom

Broken attempt: second page is visually empty

BIZWHOLISTIC

The document creates a second page but the body content does not flow into it correctly.

This large blank region signals a table/row-height problem: content is trapped, clipped, or forced away.

08 Our Fees	Fees Incorporation, Company Secretary, and Registered Office Fees, Business Registration Certificate Fees: USD 1,850 per year along with year-round support for all company-related matters from us.
09 Our Fees	Renewal (from the 2nd year onwards): Company Secretary, Registered Office Fees, Business Registration Certificate, and Annual Return Fees: USD 1,650 per year along with year-round support for all company-related matters from us. The renewal fee does not include any accounting, audit or simplified accounting which will be due at the time of renewal.

Repeated "Our Fees" for 08/09 makes the left column feel redundant. Use "Renewal" for 09.

The renewal item has no right-side heading, so the paragraph looks less deliberate than the others.

3. How to fix it systematically

Use a two-level hierarchy, not two repeated titles

Left side: number + short topic label. Right side: formal title + body. This answers your question directly: yes, the left-side title becomes redundant when it repeats the right-side heading. It only works when it is a locator.

Do not use one full left column for long documents

It looks clean at first, but it destroys section proximity. Each topic needs its own visual row, card, band, or timeline stop. The reader should never have to mentally connect a label on the far left to a block of text on the right.

Set a page-break rule before designing

For 9 sections, use 4/5 or 5/4 split. Never let a large table row decide pagination for you. The layout must control the page break.

Give long paragraphs a longer line, not a taller box

The current content cannot be edited, so improve readability with line length, type size, and spacing. Avoid decorative boxes that force narrow text columns.

Choose the layout by content length

Short content can use cards; long content should use rows, bands, timeline, or matrix. The more words you have, the quieter the decoration should become.

4. Recommended house rules for BizWholistic information sheets

Element	Rule
Page size	Letter portrait unless the document has wide tables. Keep margins around 0.55-0.75 in.
Logo	Top-right, never competing with the title. Use the purple brand mark at a consistent width.
Color	Use white, navy, brand purple, and pale lilac. Do not introduce extra accent colors except for annotations.
Left labels	Use number + short topic. Avoid repeating the right heading.
Right headings	Use the formal content title. One title style throughout.
Body text	9-10 pt for dense documents; 10-11 pt for client-facing short docs. Line spacing around 1.08-1.15.
Rows/cards	Each topic should be visually self-contained. Avoid one large sidebar covering several topics.
Pagination	Use manual section grouping: 4/5, 5/4, or cover + 5/4 for executive versions.
Long files	Prefer Option 05, 06, or 09. Avoid decorative card grids when the text becomes uneven.

5. The 10 delivered style choices

01 Approved Rhythm

Closest to the successful Accounts & Audit template, but corrected for nine sections. Recommended default.

02 Navy Sidebar Report

Highest brand presence; best for formal client packets and PDF sharing.

03 Minimal Memo

Cleanest and most maintainable when text volume increases.

04 Balanced Card Grid

Visually modern, best when every section is roughly equal length.

05 Thin Timeline

Strong for long lists; it gives structure without heavy boxes.

06 Compliance Matrix

Best for factual comparison and regulatory reference.

07 Index + Detail

Useful when the reader needs quick navigation across many topics.

08 Premium Purple Rail

Polished brochure style with a strong BizWholistic purple rail.

09 Compact Bands

Efficient and calm; good for 2-page handouts.

10 Board Brief

Most executive; includes a cover page and refined detail pages.

Research basis

The recommendations follow standard visual design principles: hierarchy, proximity, consistent spacing, balance, and alignment. They also follow the observable BizWholistic brand tone: global consulting, business formation/accounts/tax/compliance, concise language, and a minimal premium editorial style.
